

To those who worked and those who waited.

Hurricane Irma was one of the most destructive storms ever. In some areas, we had to rebuild our system.
That takes time, and if you were a customer without power, it felt even longer.

From all of us at Duke Energy, thank you for your patience. We are grateful for your understanding as we worked to restore power across our Florida service area. Thanks also to our utility crews, some from across the nation, plus the first responders and disaster relief organizations who worked so hard to restore our communities.

Together, we safely weathered the storm – Thank You.

For the latest updates, visit duke-energy.com/Irma.

This ad paid for by Duke Energy shareholders.